Dayton, Ohio, October 27.—Whether the American congress would be bound morally to adopt recommendations from the league of nations was discussed today by Governor Cox during a demonstrative day spent in his home communities, including Middletown, Ohio, his boyhood home, and here tonight in his own city.

The question of a moral obligation was asked point-blank by a woman in the democratic presidential candidate's audience at Middletown. Without giving a "yes" or "no" answer, Governor Cox declared that there would be no legal obligation upon the United States, but that the presumption in the conduct of the world will determine some action which will not only be right, but which will be effective. He added that the Monroe doctrine had been maintained without the firing of a shot and that he favored a Hitchcock reservation. He said that congress should be free to accept or reject league advice as to employing American military force.

The governor's home folks turned out in force today, thousands joining in giving him enthusiastic testimonials of respect. He made five speeches, mostly devoted to vigorous championing of the league of nations, in his home communities. Many delegations from nearby cities were here tonight. After two addresses at Middletown, the governor spoke to a women's audience which packed Eagle's hall tonight, to another audience that crowded Memorial hall, and to a large overflow meeting outside. A red torchlight parade, containing numerous bands and thousands of persons in marching clubs, preceded to night's rally, of which fireworks were a feature. In the events, the governor was the center of cheering, surging throngs.

Moral Obligation.
Discussion of moral obligations under the league was the first during the governor's campaign, but was broached by a stranger in the governor's Middletown audience. It was said that the man, who stated that at one time he had taught school, refused to give his name.

He and Governor Cox held a lengthy and spirited, but friendly debate, regarding the moral obligations and several other league questions.

The incident caused the governor to relax; other circumstances of the campaign in which he said "Hitchcock" and other means had been used by Chairman Hays, of the re-

James A. Hollomon, Staff Correspondent, Will Summarize the National Situation in Sunday's Constitution

Four weeks ago it was generally believed that the republican national ticket had a lead that it would be impossible to overcome by November 2.

For the past three weeks, however, the democratic tide has been running so strong that thousands of people now, all over the country, are freely predicting a democratic victory.

The vote of the women is a problem that has both parties guessing.

The labor vote is another factor that is potential in several pivotal states.

Since the national conventions of the two major parties, both of which he attended, James A. Hollomon, on the eve of the great election battle of Tuesday, November 2, the situation as he has found it in every section, epitomizing the whole into a table of electoral votes he believes are reasonably assured for the two party nominees, along with the votes placed by him in the "doubtful" column.

This summary will be unbiased, written with complete frankness, and without regard to the party affiliations of The Constitution or the writer.

Commissioner of Agriculum to Closing—Wanna-maker Asks Postponement of Tax Payment.

Following the outlined policy of Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Brown that cotton can be best handled by having it ginned and placed in bonded warehouses, so receipts may be used as collateral in securing loans, Governor Hugh M. Dorsey tonight night replied to Governor John M. Parker, of Louisiana, stating that he could not join him in issuing a proclamation urging all ginneries to close for a period of thirty days in an effort to bolster the cotton market.

Another development in the cotton situation Wednesday was the announcement that J. S. Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton association, had sent telegrams from Columbia, S. C., to the governors of fourteen cotton-growing states, urging them to call special sessions of their legislatures for the purpose of enacting legislation postponing the payment of taxes and legislation assuring a uniform reduction in cotton acreage for 1921 of 33 1-3. Governor Dorsey stated tonight he had not yet received the message.

Receives Telegram.

Governor Dorsey received the telegram of the chief executive of Louisiana Tuesday and he immediately turned it over with letters of the enactment of a moratorium law, the question and suggesting the legislature be assembled in an extraordinary session for the purpose of enacting a moratorium law to Commissioner Brown, requesting that he favor him with any suggestions he might care to make.

In his reply Mr. Brown called attention to the fact that for the past eight weeks he has maintained the position that in order "that we might handle our cotton to the best advantage, it would be wise to gin it and place it in warehouses, bonded, if possible, so as to use the certificates as collateral with which to borrow money to meet maturing debts."

Mr. Brown added that he could see no reason why a change should be made in this policy. "I note from the letters you sent me that some suggest that the legislature be assembled in an extraordinary session," he said, "for the purpose of enacting a moratorium. As to closing down the gins for sixty days or the enactment of a moratorium law, I suggest that the latter would be more preferable."

Governor's Reply.

Replying to Governor Parker, Governor Dorsey stated that although he "had great regard for your opinion, I doubt the wisdom of requesting the gins to suspend."

United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, October 27.—Speaking today to a group of pro-league Republicans at the white house, President Wilson declared that "the so-called Americanism which we hear so much prating about now is spurious, and invented for party purposes only."

President Wilson made an earnest appeal for the "completion" of the "great moral achievement" which he said the war represented, asserting that the war will have been fought in vain and our immense sacrifices thrown away unless we complete the work we then began.

The pro-league republican declared found a sick man, seated in a wheel chair, who did not rise to greet them, whose pale features were furrowed with lines of suffering and worry. They were surprised that the president was not better than he seemed.

Read From Manuscript.

The president invited his visitors in a small room opening off his study, where he works mornings, and the exchange of formal speeches required little more than half an hour. The president read what he had to say from a manuscript, remaining seated throughout. His audience numbered fourteen, but his speech was addressed to "My fellow countrymen," and had been prepared as a final election appeal, to be distributed through the press.

Hamilton Holt, editor of The New York Independent, and spokesman for the group, commented on the emotion the president displayed, particularly when he referred to those who sacrificed their lives in the war.

"More than once his voice choked," said Holt. "It was evident that he was voicing the profoundest emotions of his heart. The whole occasion was inexpressibly solemn and tender. It was evident that the president's intellectual powers were in full command."

A lease for five years has been taken by A. L. Erlanger on the Atlanta theater, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Lewis Haas, manager of the local playhouse.

Coincident with the announcement of the lease, it was announced that several thousand dollars will be spent on complete redecoration of the house, just as soon as the present local theatrical season had been completed. The good acoustics and the facility with which the entire stage may be raised from every section of the auditorium have long been the subject of highly favorable comment, and the work which will be done in brightening up the appearance of the house will make it one of the most attractive places for the production of first-class attractions in the country.

Much conjecture has been rife as to what action would be taken upon the expiration of the present lease on the Atlanta theater, which was taken for ten years and which expires July 1, 1921. It is known that several Atlanta financiers have made propositions to Mr. Erlanger wherein they offered their co-operation in the erection of a magnificent theater for the production of the Erlanger program here.

tion by the cities of Macon, Eastman, Valdosta and Warrenton, marked the first day's hearing before the railroad commission of the petition of the telephone concern for increases in rates ranging from 20 to 40 per cent.

After hearing from representatives of the several Georgia cities protesting against the increase, J.
E. Jago, assistant to the first vice president of the telephone company, and with J. M. B. Hoxsey, first vice president, still outlining the financial condition of the corporation and its reasons for asking an increase in rates, the commission adjourning the hearing until Thursday morning, when it will be continued until completed.

Hoxsey on Stand.

The bulk of the Southern Bell Telephone company's testimony was submitted during the afternoon session by Mr. Hoxsey, who disclosed the financial condition of the concern. Operating expenses of the company have increased out of proportion to its revenue, he said, and during thirty years the concern has not earned a dividend equal to the legal rate of interest in Georgia.

Operating wages expense have increased 147 per cent, Mr. Hoxsey continued, the general wage expense 100 per cent, and the cost of material 100 per cent. When asked whether the decreased cost of material would not lower the expense of the company, he replied that the estimated 75 per cent reduction in commodities would effect six six-tenths of one per cent due to the small amount of material used in operating the exchanges.

The Southern Bell is in urgent need of the increased rates, the first vice president said, and is striving to economize with the use of new inventions. The decrease in cost of commodities would prove of little benefit to the company, he contended. No reduction in the wages of employees has been made since he became connected with the company, and he is firmly convinced that the increase of $340,351 in wages in Georgia should the petition be granted is absolutely necessary.

Average Wage.

The average person in the employ of the telephone company now receives $876.21 per annum, according to Mr. Hoxsey's testimony, and it is the plan of the company to add an average of $112.40 to the wages of each employee. The number of employees in this state is 3,928, according to an exhibit of the company, and the present annual pay is $2,653,176. The increase would add $340,351, or an increase of 12.8 per cent to present wage expense.

The total expense for the year ending July 31, 1920, according to Mr. Hoxsey, was $4,550,558, with an average number of stations for the same period of 87,335.

Mr. Hoxsey stated that the company in order to secure investments in stock and bonds must show a reasonable dividend and a solid financial condition. Unless the increases in rates petitioned by the company are granted, he continued, it will be impossible to meet the 1921 investment.

Increases Asked.

The telephone company is seeking the following increases of rates in Atlanta: Business telephones from $1.50 a month to $10.50; residence telephones from $1 a month to $5. Increases ranging from 20 per cent to 40 per cent above present rates in other Georgia towns and cities are asked by the company.

Letter Was Signed by Chairman Warren, of the White Declares—"Offer to Sell Out," He Says.

New York, October 27.—Portions of a circular letter said to have been sent to directors of corporations by an official of the republican national committee were made public here tonight by George White, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Mr. White declared the letter tends to prove Governor Cox's charge that republican would "sell out to the corporations." Mr. White's statement follows:

"A circular letter sent to directors of corporations by Charles E. Warren, chairman of the ways and means committee of the republican national committee, has come to my attention. The contents of this letter will convince all who have any remaining doubt that the republican national committee is prepared to sell out the United States of America to the corporations. This is a grave charge, but it is borne out by the contents of Mr. Warren's letter.

"Under date of October 20, 1920, in addressing directors of corporations, he writes:

Letter to Corporations.
"Will you, therefore, determine promptly what the value of republican success means to you and your corporate interests. Make your financial pledge accordingly, and mail the enclosed card with remittance to the Detroit office today."

"The signature of Mr. Warren is not only printed on this letter, but it is signed in ink over the printed names. The letter is written on the stationery of the republican ways and means committee, which bears the name of the committee officials also.

"No more sordid document nor one more corroborative of Governor Cox's charge that certain corporations are trying to buy an underhold in the government has come to light in this campaign.

"There is another phrase of Mr. Warren's letter bearing out the democratic charge of millions to be employed in an endeavor to elect Senator Harding. Remember, it is dated October 20, 1920, two days after the republican national committee reported an expenditure of over three millions of dollars. Mr. Warren writes:

Warren's Communication.
"Through over-confidence, or inertia on the part of republican business men, a substantial portion of the campaign expense is still unprovided for."

tribution of foodstuffs in the event of a general strike.

The emergency powers bill, granting the cabinet almost unlimited authority during the course of the strike, was passed by the house of commons Wednesday night by a vote of 238 to 58. Its quick passage by the lords is a certainty.

In the meantime, regardless of the action of parliament, which has strengthened Lloyd-George's hand in his negotiations with the striking miners, it is believed that a solution of the whole mining trouble has been found, and that the miners will shortly be back at work.

The Pall Mall Gazette declares that it understands the strike has actually been settled and that Lloyd-George will make an announcement to that effect in the commons, with Robert Smillie imparting the news to the Trades Union congress.

Tribute to Premier.

Lloyd-George's solution of the problem is another tribute to the persistence of the astute premier, who has thus warded off the most serious and pressing blow to the stability of the United Kingdom that has been struck since the great war, not even excepting the Irish question.

While he is willing in the final agreement proposed by the government to guarantee the miners the demanded increase of two shillings a day, he has safeguarded the country's output without actually pressing for a minimum production clause. If, at the end of the year, when a recapitulation of the financial returns is made, it is found that production has decreased to such a degree that profits are wiped out, the country will be taxed indirectly by an increase in the price of household coal, enough to make up for the increase in wages.

J. H. Thomas, speaking for the miners, made the following announcement late in the day:

"The conference at Downing street reached one hitch this afternoon, necessitating an adjournment until 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning."

Stormy Session.

The parliamentary committee of the Trades Union congress, which had assembled during the afternoon to consider the labor question as a whole, spent a stormy and impassioned session, in which the leaders besieged delegates to maintain a solidarity.

A reflection of this came in the determined opposition of labor members of parliament, to the passage of the government's emergency power measure, which, in the words of the congress resolution, "strikes at the existence of trades unionism."

Before the passage of the measure, opponents of the bill declared that it would empower the government to take any drastic action it chose, without parliamentary check, that it enabled the government to arrest and hold without trial any of the labor leaders, and thus break the strike. They pointed out the "vagueness" of the bill's clauses and declared it a most inopportune time to bring it before the commons because it would "stiffen the back of the laborites throughout England."

der. Troops guarded the line of march of the funeral procession as a hundred Sinn Fein sympathizers were allowed to march in the cortege.

Dublin dispatches reported that Kelly Sherlock, an officer in the republican army, was killed and several houses wrecked in a reprisal raid by the Skerries on Sinn Feiners in North Dublin. The reprisal was for the murder of a "black and tan" officer, alleged to have taken part in the reprisals at Ballybrigan, whose body was found in a sewer Monday.

The military at Dublin Wednesday night raided two banks in search of republican documents. Wednesday morning two large hotels were raided.

Disorders broke out again Wednesday night at Belfast. An armored car was sent to the scene of the trouble and soon restored order. No casualties were reported. Soldiers later raided a chapel in search of hidden arms.

DELEGATION ASKS RECOGNITION OF IRELAND.

Washington, October 27.—Arguments favoring recognition of the "new republic of Ireland" were formally presented to Secretary Colby at the state department tonight by a delegation of Irish sympathizers, headed by Frank P. Walsh, former joint chairman with William Howard Taft, of the war labor board.

Mr. Walsh was accompanied by Eugene Kincaid, New Jersey; James McGuire, former mayor of Syracuse; James McGarrity, Philadelphia; and Daniel C. O'Flaherty, of Richmond, all members of a larger committee appointed at the Irish race convention in Philadelphia two years ago, and which sent a committee composed of Mr. Walsh, former Governor Duane, of Illinois, and Michael Ryan, of Philadelphia, to Paris to intercede with the American delegation at the peace conference for Irish recognition.

Secretary Colby listened without comment, but cautioned the chairman, when reference was made to Emmett De Valera as "president of Ireland," that as secretary of state he could hear them only on the understanding that they were there as American citizens, and not as representatives of officials of the Irish people.

"We demand recognition, not as a favor," said Mr. Walsh, "but as a right. The Irish republic is now established as a de jure and de facto government. Its stability and representative character are attested by the indorsement of the ballots of 90 per cent of the Irish people. The courts of the Irish republic are functioning, and their decisions are respected by the entire population."

An analysis of conditions in Ireland, which Mr. Walsh said there had been 77 murders in Ireland between January 1, 1919, and October 22, 1920. He said the list did not take into account the killing of police, soldiers or other armed persons, and added that 38,724 homes had been raided within the last year, and that there was a record of 1,604 assaults.

"The second republican lord mayor of Cork lies, as lay his predecessor, murdered by the British government. Cork is in mourning. Citizens, or any section of them, will take only authorized action. Orders will be issued by proper authority."

Today passed quietly, with the exception of a slight stir caused by military raids on banks in search of firearms placed in vaults for safekeeping. Soldiers not on duty were restricted to their barracks. The body of Joseph Murphy, one of the hunger strikers in Cork jail, who died last night, was removed tonight to a church from which the funeral will be held tomorrow.

REPRISALS COMING, DEPUTY MAYOR SAYS.

London, October 27.—The Evening News today prints the following statement which it says was made by the deputy lord mayor of Cork:

"We are leaving behind us in your capital many of our patriots who will see that the debt of your government is fully paid. The English government may think they have stilled us, but there will be reprisals, and soon."

What! A separate factory just to cut soles?

YES—and that is one more reason why McElwain Shoes give you more for less.

The McElwain organization is so big that it reaches out to three continents for its hides; so big that it owns and operates its own tanneries; so big that each separate part of the shoe is made in a separate, specialized factory.

That means a separate factory just to cut the soles, another to fashion the upper leather, another to make the heels.

In every single operation there is a saving of pennies, and the pennies amount to dollars by the time the shoe reaches you.

Ask your dealer today to show you a pair of McElwain Shoes. You will be surprised at their beauty and style; but the price will surprise you even more.

NOTHING BETTER FOR A SLUGGISH LIVER

E. P. Scott Says Livatabs Are Best—Has Tried Many—Livatabs Superior—No Gripes—No Pain—They Do Not Sicken—Enable Him to Eat What He Wants.

Mr. E. P. Scott has had a great deal of experience with different medicines. He's enthusiastic about Livatabs, though. We reprint his letter, without changing a word.

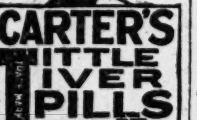

"I have tried several different medicines but I have found that Livatabs are superior to any that I have found. There is no gripe or pain and they do not sicken. When taking Livatabs I do not feel anything that I wish and go about my work in the usual way. There is nothing better for a sluggish liver than Livatabs."

Livatabs contain no calomel, so they can't nauseate or sicken. They don't gripe, cramp or pain you. They don't force you to lay a-bed the day after you take them. They're safe.

If your druggist doesn't have them, send for full sized package. Livatabs are absolutely guaranteed. If you are not satisfied with the results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money on return of the package. Southern Druggists' Syndicate, Macon, Ga. (adv.)

GEORGIA STATE FAIR OPENS IN MACON TODAY

"Bigger and Better Than Ever," Say Fair Officials on Eve of Opening.

Macon, Ga., October 27.—(Special.) With a premium list totaling $30,000, the largest ever offered during the sixty-five years of its history, the Georgia State fair will be opened tomorrow.

But it is not only in an agricultural way that this year's fair is exceptional. To transport all of the cattle and hogs to be displayed, a freight train almost a mile long would be required. More than 100 carloads of blooded cattle alone have arrived at the fair grounds and there are a half dozen pigs for every cow or steer that is being displayed. With several hundred entries already in the 8,000 members of the Georgia Boys' Pig Club, last-minute wire was received asking that reservations be made for 200 additional animals. The outpouring of swine exhibits this year is the best evidence that the younger generation of Georgians are no longer depending on cotton, but are turning their attention to something more profitable.

The agricultural department of the fair this year is under the direction of W. A. Grover, of Ivanhoe. A centennial department of the year will be daily demonstrations of the work done by each bureau of the Georgia department.

A. Whitaker, of Conyers, is in charge of the dairy and beef cattle show. Exhibits have been so great that the Georgia department has been forced to overflow and a large barn, formerly used for other purposes, has been converted into a barn for the housing of cattle. The Georgia Pig club show is under the direction of Carl Wallace, who will be assisted by W. G. Middleton, Bibb county farm demonstrator. Totaling $8,000 have been offered to the Pig club boys.

The poultry and pigeon department is under the direction of N. G. Capper, of Dalton, and the entire fair is far in excess of those of any previous year. W. S. Childers, of Omaha, has charge of the Corn and Canning club exhibits, which occupy one of the largest display buildings on the fair grounds.

Machinery hall was filled to overflowing with the latest in machinery and many displays that could not be placed in the building for lack of room are housed in tents. Governor Dorsey and members of his staff, as well as mayors of many other cities, will be the guests of the fair association on Saturday of this week. Hundreds of college students from the surrounding cities will also attend the fair on that day.

Beginning tomorrow the fair will be in session for ten days.

HARDEN'S TRIAL OPENS

Alleged Liquor Briber Pleads Not Guilty.

The trial of John Henry Harden, charged with bribery, will get well under way this morning. It was announced at the Federal building yesterday, Harden pleaded not guilty Wednesday before Judge Samuel H. Sibley in the United States district court, and the jury will hear witnesses in the case today. It is expected that the trial will occupy the entire day.

It is alleged in the federal indictment that Harden attempted to buy "protection" from a federal prohibition agent for $500 per month. Federal agents claimed he was trapped in the attempt by the use of a dictagraph, which had been "planted" in Harden's room at the Wilmore hotel. The alleged affair occurred last spring.

Josh Brown, charged with distilling, was acquitted Wednesday following a trial that consumed three days. The case was made on a parcel post truck Tuesday afternoon at the Southern railway-McClellan street crossing. The truck contained a large number of C. O. D. parcels and was driven by J. T. Fowler, who reported the attempt to Lon Livingston, assistant superintendent of mails.

TWO SOLDIERS ESCAPE

Randall Edwards Returned to "Pen" at Jessup.

By dashing from the prison pen at the Camp Jessup mess hall, and climbing a fence at the rear of the camp after being fired at twice by a sentry, Randall Edwards, private, confined for desertion, and Michael Fletcher, private, awaiting trial for the same offense, made their escape from imprisonment at the camp at about 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Edwards was recaptured by military police on Whitehall street Wednesday night. Fletcher is still at large, but his early capture is expected. He has a wife in Atlanta.

OFFICERS PROBING ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP

Local postoffice inspectors are investigating an attempted hold-up of a parcel post truck Tuesday afternoon at the Southern railway-McClellan street crossing. The truck contained a large number of C. O. D. parcels and was driven by J. T. Fowler, who reported the attempt to Lon Livingston, assistant superintendent of mails.

According to Fowler's statement, two white men boarded his truck as he slowed up for the railroad crossing, and commanded him to halt the truck. Instead of stopping, Fowler sped up his machine, and the two men leaped from the truck and ran.

CHARGE WHITESLAVERY

Freeman Shumate Faces Charges Made by Wife.

What federal officials declare is one of the most sensational instances of white slavery ever brought to light in the northern district of Georgia will be aired in the federal court shortly, following the indictment by the federal grand jury Wednesday of Freeman Shumate, who was arrested on June 28 and arraigned before Commissioner W. C. Carter. He was released after furnishing $500 bond, and is now at liberty.

Shumate's alleged offense was brought to the attention of federal authorities last spring by the father of a 17-year-old East Atlanta girl.

Shumate was arrested on a warrant sworn out by one hotel proprietor, charged with cheating and swindling. It is charged, and was later served with a federal warrant sworn out by agents of the department of justice, charging violation of the Mann white slave act. It is also charged that Shumate who claims that Shumate kept her in a virtual state of bondage. It is alleged that Shumate married the girl on March 22 and, after living for six weeks at the home of the bride's father, they moved to Birmingham, where they stopped at the Hillmer hotel from May 22 to May 26. Then they returned to Atlanta, living at several well-known Atlanta hotels.

Shumate was arrested on a warrant sworn out by one hotel proprietor, charged with cheating and swindling. It is charged, and was later served with a federal warrant sworn out by agents of the department of justice, charging violation of the Mann white slave act. It is also charged that Shumate alred a taxi to take him to Griffin, and failed to pay fare. On the trip it is claimed that he carried a 14-year-old girl, and had it not been for the protection of the driver, she would have been badly dealt with.

Ralph Grayson, former army officer, also charged with violating the Mann act, was indicted Wednesday. It is charged by the government that Grayson accompanied an Atlanta married woman to Cincinnati, Washington, San Francisco, Lexington and other points, and went as man and wife. Grayson has already been divorced from his wife at the time, it is said, and the Atlanta woman involved has since been divorced by her husband.

Silent 10 Years, Given Freedom, Refuses to Talk

Asked If He Is Ready to Talk, Man on Vocal
Strike Simply Writes,
"I Can't."

Boston, October 27.—Patrick J. ("Corky") Hanley ended a twenty-five year sentence at the state penitentiary today against his will and maintained to the last a silence begun ten years ago. He had asked, in writing, that he be allowed to stay on for a few days more to finish some work, but his sentence having expired, Warden Shattuck put him out.

At the state house, to which he was taken by the warden on his last automobile ride, he was asked if he was not ready to talk. Hanley stood mute, then reached out for a pencil and pad, and wrote, "I can't."

He took a vow of silence ten years after a fellow convict had revealed something he said, and, although parole was offered him several times if he would voice a request for it, he refused.

Hanley was committed to the prison as a habitual criminal from Lawrence in 1895 after he was found guilty of stealing $84 worth of shoes.

GOV. DORSEY OPPOSES CLOSING OF GINNERIES

operations. At any rate, in view of the attitude of Commissioner Brown, who is probably as well informed on agricultural conditions in this state as any man, I hardly feel that I would be authorized in making the request which you suggest."

Commissioner Brown's letter to Governor Dorsey follows:

"Dear Governor: Your favor of October 27, together with a number of letters and telegrams referring to the present situation, has been received and carefully noted.

"In reply, will say that I am informed that while a large per cent of the cotton west of the Mississippi has already been ginned, and a considerable amount of Texas cotton has been placed on the market, you have called from the press for the past six or eight weeks that I have taken the position that in order that we might handle our cotton to the best advantage it would be wise to sin it and place it in warehouses, bonded if possible, so as to use the certificate as a means with which to borrow money to meet maturing debts and to protect supply merchants and the small bankers in covering the supply accounts of the farmers advanced while producing the present crop.

until the market price reaches at least cost of production.

"I see no reason to suggest a change in that policy.

"I note from the letters you sent me that some suggest that the legislature be assembled in extraordinary session for the purpose of enacting a moratorium law. As to closing down the gins for sixty days or the enactment of a moratorium law, I suggest that the latter would be much more preferable.

"I am in receipt of hundreds of letters and telegrams as well as the ones handed to me by you suggesting that you call an extra session, and I believe that it would be wise to do so, for the purpose of enacting a law reducing the acreage for the 1921 crop to five acres to the plow. I do not think that a law of this kind would be constitutional, therefore, I would suggest that in the event you call an extra session, and I believe that it would be wise to do so, that our laws giving police quarantine authority to the state board of entomology should be so strengthened as to give the board such control as would be necessary to successfully control or exterminate the boll weevil, and that state warehouses and bonding laws be so amended as to allow state banks to give preferential interest rates to co-operative bonded warehouses as this would have a tendency to strengthen the bonded cotton bondhouses receipt as against those receipts issued by non-bonded warehouses, many of which are unknown outside of their immediate communities.

"I believe that the question of acreage reduction should be within the hands of the farmers themselves in co-operation with the state board of entomology, and I am of the firm opinion that an organization among the farmers will be perfected without the receipt as against those receipts issued by non-bonded warehouses, many of which are unknown outside of their immediate communities.

"I have great regard for your opinion, I doubt the wisdom of requesting the gins to operate at a reduced rate, in view of the attitude of Commissioner Brown, who is probably as well informed on agricultural conditions in this state as any man. I hardly feel that I would be authorized in making the request which you suggest."

Commissioner Brown's letter to Governor Dorsey follows:

"Dear Governor: Your favor of October 27, together with a number of letters and telegrams referring to the present situation, has been received and carefully noted.

"In reply, will say that I am informed that while a large per cent of the cotton west of the Mississippi has already been ginned, and a considerable amount of Texas cotton has been placed on the market, you have called from the press for the past six or eight weeks that I have taken the position that in order that we might handle our cotton to the best advantage it would be wise to sin it and place it in warehouses, bonded if possible, so as to use the certificate as a means with which to borrow money to meet maturing debts and to protect supply merchants and the small bankers in covering the supply accounts of the farmers advanced while producing the present crop.

"I earnestly request that you call an extra session of the legislature so that your state to convene as speedily as possible for the purpose of passing necessary legislation postponing the payment of taxes on cotton.

"The law of supply and demand is not functioning. Cotton can only be sold in a limited way, at prices that are absolutely confiscatory, being only half the cost of production.

"Cotton must be held for at least the cost of production, 10 cents, basis middling. We must arrange to market cotton in central Europe, where there is pressing demand. We must assure the cotton-consuming world, beyond a shadow of doubt, that cotton acreage will be reduced 32-1-3 per cent next season.

part or in whole until July next year, and to enact legislation to put into effect and force legal machinery to assure the reduction in cotton acreage of 32-1-3 per cent. This act to be passed under the general welfare clause, the farmer to make legal returns showing the acreage planted this year and acreage to be planted next year. A special act to provide a heavy tax for any acreage planted in excess of 66-2-3 per cent of the mount planted this year should be passed.

"The enforcement of this law should be placed in the hands of state and county officials, and the money derived from the taxes for the violation of the acreage reduction law should be utilized for the purpose of promoting economic reforms in the handling and marketing of the cotton crop; the act to provide that the agricultural extension forces and the American Cotton association shall co-operate with the state and county officials in the enforcement of said law.

"The organization of the export corporation which is for the marketing of the law of supply and demand and the price of cotton at a reasonable profit above the cost of production will absolutely change the unjustifiable conditions now facing the south into prosperity."

present, following the rapid rise in the cost of all building materials and labor during the past twelve months, however, the proposed consummation of any such program, and Mr. Erlanger accordingly entered into the 5-year lease with the Atlanta theater. Mr. Erlanger, who has wide theatrical interests throughout the United States, and particularly in the southern states, has many times expressed his belief in Atlanta as an amusement center. No consideration was mentioned in the announcement of the new lease on the playhouse.

In commenting on the announcement of the Atlanta lease, The New York Telegraph said:

"Mr. Erlanger has taken this lease to protect his many and varied interests in the south. The capital of Georgia is now the real metropolis of that section of the country, and this possession gives Mr. Erlanger a commanding position, as no southern theatrical tour is complete without a visit to Atlanta.

"Mr. Erlanger's activities are assuming wide scope, as only recently it was announced that he had purchased the Mason opera house in Los Angeles, Cal., and that plans were practically perfected for the acquisition of a number of additional houses in the Los Angeles neighborhood of the country. Erlanger will also figure largely during the coming season in the producing line.

"Only by that means will the company be able to provide more service and increase the efficiency of its operating force, increased rates have been granted, but more will be necessary," he continued.

"In thirty years in Georgia the company has never asked as much as the legal rate of interest, 8 per cent. Its best year in Georgia was in 1915, when it earned a 2-3 per cent profit."

It is not now asking to earn 4 per cent on the value of its property, but to earn 2-3 per cent on its capital investment. This is much less than 8 per cent on the value of the property would be."

Mr. Magee followed Mr. Chipley, as the first witness for the company, giving a complete survey of the company's physical properties and problems of operations.

Protests against the petition were led by J. T. Simpson, representing the city of Valdosta.

"To allow the company to increase rates now, in the face of price reductions for materials, would enable it to reap unjust returns," he said. "The company should be bound by a contract with Valdosta dated June 4, 1915, in which $4 for business telephones and $2.50 for residential telephones was charged. The company agreed to install 2,000 telephones, but only 1,500 have been installed."

Mayor C. R. Bennett of Eastman followed Mr. Simpson and entered the formal action and resolutions of the city council. He proposed an increase in rates. R. G. Plunkett, city attorney of Macon, then entered his plea against the petition.

Others appearing before the commission in opposition to the granting of the petition were Glen Toole, Mayor of Macon; B. Gilliam, rate expert of the Macon Chamber of Commerce; R. C. Turner, city electrician, Atlanta; D. E. Smith and O. J. Franklin, representing the Kiwanis club of Eastman; S. C. Bennett, Mayor of Eastman; S. C. McWilliam, Mayor of Valdosta; Robert Allen and A. C. Cox, Social D. M. Party, Waycross.

Warrenton and Greensboro filed written protests against the rates, and telegrams from several civic organizations protesting against the increased rates were received by the commission Wednesday.

ELAGUE OBLIGATIONS MORAL ONLY, SAYS COX

publican national committee, in attempts at embarrassment.

Harding, again played. Governor Cox also continued hot fire in all of today's speeches against Senator Harding, reiterating and trying to secure election "under false pretenses." The governor reiterated that a great wave of league sentiment was sweeping the nation.

The governors debate regarding league obligations followed his speeches to meet contentions that the league would, as the governor put it, "take American boys into every back alley row in Europe."

When he reiterated the contention that congress only had power to declare war, "in or out of the league," he was limited solely to advice the governor's questioner interjected: "The league would advise congress as to the recommendations of the council. Would not that morally bind congress?"

"It is very distinctly stated," the governor replied, "in one of the Hitchcock reservations that we undertake nothing which binds the United States to go to war because it has the power to make such an arrangement in view of the limitation under the constitution. This covenant of the league is based upon the idea that civilization has had a lesson and this covenant is simply a rest on the morality of the world. You say to me, 'How do I know moral force will be sufficient?' I will give you a historic precedent. Isn't the covenant of the league internationally precisely what the Monroe doctrine is on this continent? What is behind the Monroe doctrine except our moral force? Have we ever had to fire a shot in one hundred years to maintain it?"

Conscience of Nations.

"That doesn't answer my question," the governor's questioner interjected.

"Well, then, I will answer it in another way," the candidate resumed.

"What you have in your mind is this: What will lay upon the conscience of the world in the face of a grave, worldwide disorder?"

"The presumption is that the conscience of every nation will determine some action which will not only be right but which will be effective."

Governor Cox then read the Hitchcock reservation, stating that congress would decide when American arms force should be used, and asked: "Does that answer it?"

"Will the recommendation of the council," the governor's interrogator pressed, "bind the congress morally to follow the council's recommendation; yes or no?"

Amid cries from the audience of "Throw him out!" the governor, insisting that the man be given a hearing, responded:

Faith in World Morality.

"Wait a minute. I am going to do this in my own way. If a grave matter arises we are not legally bound to do it. You ask if we are morally bound. If it is a grave matter, we are going to accept a message from God Almighty. We are making a bet on the morality of the world."

The governor's questioner replied that Article 10 would sign away American sovereignty, and the candidate replied:

"Who signs with us? All the nations that go into the league. Then each one, according to your admission, signs just as much away as the other one signs, and as they are all giving it up, where does it go? Into the air? If we signed away our sovereignty, wouldn't that be in conflict with the constitution? The supreme court would stop it as quickly as they would stop burglary."

Senatorially Inspired.

Governor Cox then reiterated his statement that an American Bar association committee had declared the league constitutional in every respect, and asked his questioner if he knew where this candidacy stood upon the league.

"He isn't so divinely inspired," the governor's co-debater replied, "that he can tell immediately what he is going to do with something in the future."

"No," he is senatorially inspired," Governor Cox responded. "He is willing to cross the bridge when he comes to it and solve those questions by a complete diagnosis of the situation at the time," came the reply. "If you were running for the presidency and Judge Taft said you were for the league and Hiram Johnson said you were against the league, and if you kept quiet, wouldn't you be trying to acquire the presidency under false pretenses?" Governor Cox asked. Senator Harding is either fooling Taft or Johnson, is he not?"

The governor's questioner made some gesture with his hand, and the governor, closing the debate, said: "I don't blame you for shaking your head. That is what the country is doing."

In tonight's parade were democratic marching clubs several hundred strong, labor and fraternal delegations, newboys and several hundred women and girls. Among the bands was the "Cox Band" of San Francisco convention fame, from Piqua, Ohio, and the Cox battle song of the convention. "Ohio" was generally sung and played during the parade.

After his strenuous home-coming celebration here tonight, arrangements were made for the governor to secure a little rest tomorrow before a rushing finish of his campaign. Spending the night at Trail's End, his home near Dayton, the governor tomorrow was to rest and attend to personal affairs before leaving at 3 o'clock to make an address at Indianapolis.

ANGRY NEGRO MOB TRIES TO LYNCH MAN IN VIRGINIA

Newport News, Va., October 27.—An infuriated mob of more than 800 negroes, who today severely beat and attempted to lynch Isadore Cohen, white, and probably would have succeeded in a lynch with the courage and bravery displayed by the Rev. R. H. Green, a negro minister who rescued the young white man.

The trouble began when Ledonia Dozier, a 2-year-old negro girl, was struck by Cohen's automobile. The accident happened in the negro section of the city, near an undertaking establishment, where lay the bodies of three negro men shot and killed here Sunday in a clash with the police. Hundreds of negroes had been visiting the morgue to claim the bodies of their relatives.

Cohen's car was instantly surrounded by the black. While Cohen was attempting to get the child into the machine in order to take her to a hospital the negroes raised a blare on him, crying "Beat him to death." The Rev. Green, prominent locally among his race, rushed to the scene and tried to calm the mob and urged them to leave the car and let Cohen go.

When Cohen was attacked Green managed to crawl over the shoulders of the mob and fought off the crowd, while the young man got his car started and escaped. Thus far no arrests have been made in the negro section, but the situation is described as intense.

The girl is in a hospital with a fractured skull and hospital officials state she cannot recover. Some apprehension is felt that should she die tonight a riot might be precipitated. Cohen is being held in jail without bail pending the outcome of the girl's injuries.

In making clear its position, Washington is understood to have informed Cuban authorities that the United States government is not concerned in the political welfare of any candidate, that it has taken no hand in any party campaign and that its sole purpose, under the law, is to see that there be no election frauds. So far as the public is advised, however, there has been no formal warning as to what might be expected in the event these intimations are ignored.

FAIR ATTENDANCE REACHED 204,656

Income for 1920 Conservatively Estimated at $180,000, Which is a Record-Breaker.

More people passed through the gates of the Southeastern fair at Lakewood during ten days than live in the city of Atlanta, according to the statement of Secretary R. M. Striplin, made Wednesday night, which places the total attendance at 204,656, and makes an estimate of this year's income at $180,000.

The total attendance for the fair of 1919 was slightly under 200,000 and approximately $175,000 was taken in from all sources. The increase of the 1920 exposition over last year's is approximately 5,000 in attendance and $5,000 in revenue. Figures on the association's income will probably exceed the figures given here when a final audit has been accomplished. The 1920 budget was $152,500. Assuming the conservative estimate for total receipts, it is now believed that the fair will show profits approximating $48,000, 171,416 Paid Admissions. The total paid admissions for 1920 were 171,416 and in 1919 were 159,560, an increase of nearly 12,000 over last year. Admissions this year b-free passes approached 30,000.

While the final financial statement has not been made public, both President H. G. Hastings and Secretary Striplin state that the fair association will carry over a substantial margin to be used for improvements in the way of building and additional equipment.

The fair's budget for the current year was $152,500, but Secretary Striplin said that the exposition had been put on at a slightly reduced figure. The largest items of expense were $85,000 for general ornaments, including $29,000 as purses for the Grand Circuit races; $7,500 for automobile racing, and $12,000 for advertising.

Secretary Striplin's statement follows: "Whatever profit the Southeastern fair made this year will be reinvested in the property as in the policy of the management," Mr. Striplin said. "Many people have the idea that we have a complete plant. This is incorrect for our building program is just about half completed. As soon as money is available it is our intention to construct a machinery building, a separate building for the women's exhibits which are compelled to use a part of the liberal arts building; a building for dairy cattle and a model dairy barn; a separate building for negro exhibitors and a building for show horses.

"The grounds have about one-half of the paved roads and sidewalks we are planning to build. We need a larger and more impressive entrance, although it is not our intention to build this until we have completed our improvements inside of the grounds. All of these buildings and improvements must be placed on the grounds before we have the complete, well-balanced plant, that is our goal.

"It has always been the policy of the executive committee to stage clean, wholesome agricultural fair and live stock show that is educational, instructive and uplifting.

CONGRESSMAN UPSHAW ATTACKED BY MARTIN

Charges Democrat With Perfidy Towards Those Who Supported Him.

Charging that William D. Upshaw, democratic nominee for congress from the fifth district, is attempting to arouse racial prejudice as a last resort in his campaign, John W. Martin, republican candidate for congress from the district, has issued a card in which he replies to allegations made by Mr. Upshaw. In a statement to The Constitution Wednesday, Mr. Upshaw charged that Mr. Martin not only voted for Henry Lincoln Johnson, a negro, for the position of republican national committeeman from Georgia, but that Mr. Martin was nominated for congress by Johnson in a mass meeting held in the basement of Big Bethel church.

The card of Mr. Martin follows: "Smoked out" from the perfidy toward those who supported him for the nomination, Mr. William D. Upshaw's only hope hinges upon an attempt to arouse race prejudice.

Where does he stand upon "social equality"? Mr. Upshaw stands with those who drafted men without distinction of race and for a military system which compelled these men to live together, to live alike, take the same discipline and have the same chances for promotion. Above all, to abide by the proscribed system which makes the officer socially superior to the private, even off duty, even in that private's own family and among that private's friends.

I do not hold that a negro should be mistreated because he is a negro. God knows that the "hard-boiled" Smith men, without regard to race, culture, fitness or morals into a superior class over civilians and the higher officers entitled to put any indignity they choose upon one of lower military rank. That is the system, however, that Mr. Upshaw not only voted for, but which he has never apologized for.

Mr. Upshaw is for the league of nations, not one member of which draws any color line and some of which, notoriously Brazil, is deliberately encouraging the complete annihilation of the black with the white race. It is a country harder than ours, but undeveloped, and prospective American settlers and traders are warned not to go to Brazil with any "race prejudice" if they expect to do any business in that country.

Practically all of South America holds the same view, one important reason why England and Germany, which have no color line, captured the bulk of the world's trade. Cuba draws no color line. San Domingo is in a state of savagery. Little Liberia in Africa, is a completely black republic. Each one of these nations has as much voice in the league of nations as has the entire United States of America.

Japan, our bitter foe, and ally of England, is a member of the league through which we hope to assert, not equality, but superiority to our own citizens on our own soil. Mr. Upshaw seems to favor this.

Our country is a democracy recognizing the right of every citizen to cast their votes and thus peacefully keep in operation the principle of self-government. Does Mr. Upshaw deny this principle?

Mr. Upshaw knows well that political rights have no bearing whatever upon so-called "social equality." That remains a matter of congeniality. Political and economic freedom lead away from conditions that, in a state, perilled all the evils of the master-and-slave relation.

While the entire world is fairly raving with war, strikes, riots and horrors unparealed—I would draw to Mr. Upshaw's attention that the south remains a very pleasant land, where the two races get along well with each other. The generous white southern recognizes the negro as a man, and that they are citizens. That they are important factors in producing the agricultural wealth of the south and in consequence are not objects of charity, but entitled to the education and training which makes for decent living conditions and more responsible citizenship.

That while they abide by the laws, or suffer the penalty, they have a right to full justice in the courts. And, above all, that these laws suffice to take care of all criminals, black or white, and until an individual of any race is convicted of crime he is entitled to decent treatment.

Will Never Sneeze. Personally, I trust that I will never become so proud a gentleman(?) as to sneer at a human being because of an accident of birth. I trust that I will never be hypocrite enough to try to Christianize the negro, in the hope that he will adopt the Golden Rule to me, and then display toward his kindness the venom and insult which would discredit a ratt snake, much less a man who aims to be a servant of the people and a minister in effecting legislation looking toward the betterment of our civilization in every particular.

Mr. Upshaw's delicate sensibilities are not offended by the proposition to make the alleged president of the alleged republic of San Domingo, Haiti and Liberia outvote the president of these United States in a super-government. His superior morals are not affronted at the idea of this supreme council sitting around discussing how the "traffic in women" may be regulated, with due deference to all the polyglot, polygamist and slave-traders included in the "holy" mission.

He knows that every domestic question, such as prohibition, would be decided by the league and that if the league did not like the bone-dryness of America because foreigners came here to live, we'd have to bow. Such matters do not worry Mr. Upshaw—now that he fancies himself secure in the congressional niche. But a man who stands for American ideals in all respects he attempts to vilify me as an unholy of social equality, that poor and outworn "dog" of mental bankruptcy.

FREEDOM FOR DEBS NEAR, SAYS RUMOR; PRISONER WEIGHED

If Eugene Debs, socialist candidate for president, is pardoned, it will not be because he or his lawyers have applied for a pardon, but because pressure has been brought to bear upon the administration by thousands of people throughout America. It was declared Wednesday night by Attorney Sam Castleton, counsel for the socialist party in Atlanta, when questioned concerning rumors that Debs is about to be released through presidential clemency.

When asked if there are any indications at the federal penitentiary that Debs is about to be released, Attorney Castleton replied that Debs has just been weighed, which is considered by some as a preliminary to his release, as it is customary to weigh pardoned inmates. He stated that he understood the matter of a pardon has been brought before President Wilson for consideration. Prison officials made no statement on Debs' probable release.

CHATTAHOOCHEE RIVER BRIDGE GIVEN PRAISE

Convention of Bridgebuilders Will Come to a Close Today.

Favorable comments were made by the officials of the American Railway and Bridge Builders' association, now in session here, Wednesday afternoon, on the construction work of the Chattahoochee river bridge and the operative system of the pumping station at the river, which pumps Atlanta's water supply.

The convention adjourned its sessions at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of giving its members an opportunity of inspecting the bridge and the pump. R. C. Knowles, second vice president of the association, and superintendent of water service of the Illinois Central railroad, said that the pumping station was one of the best equipped stations in the country, being operated on the three-oil unit plan and using the settling tank for the clarification of the water.

A trip was also made Wednesday afternoon to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway shops. The delegates visited the shops as the guest of Hunter McDonald, chief engineer of the road, who furnished the delegates a special train for the trip.

Wednesday evening the annual dinner of the association was given at the Capital City club. The feature of the dinner was the showing of a motion picture of scenes at previous conventions. The picture was made by the official photographer of the Illinois Central railroad.

Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the closing session of the convention will be held. Unfinished business will be taken up and a number of reports will be read by committees. When the program is concluded the meeting place of the next convention will be decided. The convention will then close, and the delegates will take a trip to Stone Mountain, where they will be entertained with an old-fashioned barbecue.

LANFORD GIVES BOND

John Highsmith Not in Serious Condition.

Newport A. Lanford, ex-chief of Atlanta detectives, who is charged with shooting and badly wounding John S. Highsmith, a lawyer, following a quarrel on an automobile ride Monday night, was released in $1,000 bond Wednesday. He will be tried by the state court on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

Mr. Lanford's release followed receipt by Chief of Detectives Poole, of a letter from Dr. T. Davison, the surgeon attending Mr. Highsmith, who stated that he did not consider his patient to be in a serious condition, and that Mr. Highsmith personally requested that bond be allowed Mr. Lanford.

The shooting occurred on Whiteford avenue, near Hardee, after Mr. Lanford had suddenly become excited without apparent cause, while an automobile party including Mr.

Highsmith and Mr. Lanford were returning to the city. Mr. Highsmith claims the shooting was without provocation.

Specialists Join Clinic.

For three days recently, the residents of a certain rural district of New York state enjoyed the opportunity of consulting with some 20 noted medical and surgical specialists, in a visiting clinic held under the auspices of the state department of health.

The work was divided into seven distinct groups of subjects, including the study of obscure diseases beyond the skill of local practitioners.

OCTOBER BUILDING PERMITS APPROACH THE $1,000,000 MARK

With October building permits at $895,497 on Wednesday, according to records in the office of the city building inspector, and three working days yet to go, it is expected that this month will take rank with seven preceding months of this year, showing building totals of $1,000,000 or more. February and August were the only months that declined below the $1,000,000 mark.

Nervous, Tired Drowsy

Georgian, In Bad Health, Took Ziron, and Now He Recommends It to Weak People.

"I HAD aches and pains in my back, was weak, nervous and sleepless at nights," writes Mr. J. D. Starling, of Great Ga. He adds that he generally "felt tired and drowsy—never bright and cheerful."

"After the first bottle of Ziron I took I could tell a difference in my feelings," writes this Georgian. "I could eat more and relish it. I have taken three bottles of Ziron. Its real worth cannot be told."

"I will recommend Ziron to weak and run-down people. It will help them."

Many people, suffering from conditions similar to those described by Mr. Starling, have written that Ziron benefited them. Of course, one bottle can hardly be expected to restore an invalid to health. But if it shows some benefit, you should be encouraged to continue the treatment, taking Ziron regularly until you have obtained the happy results reported by so many people. Why not find out for yourself? Give Ziron a fair trial. It may do you much good. If not, it at least won't hurt you, and you can get your money back. That's the proposition under which Ziron is sold by all druggists. Try a bottle of Ziron today—(adv.)

Tech-Centre Grid Classic GEORGIA TECH

Will Start at Two O'Clock

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

There won't be any such thing as calling the game on account of darkness at Grant field Saturday afternoon, as Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, athletic director at Georgia Tech, announced yesterday that the game between the "Praying" Colonels of Centre college and the Golden Tornado would start at 2 o'clock, instead of 3, as has been the custom throughout the present season.

In deciding on the earlier starting time, Dr. Crenshaw made himself a friend for life of every newspaper man in the south, as there will be ample time now for them to make their early editions with complete stories of the classic struggle. This hasn't been the case in past games, and out-of-town supporters of the various schools were forced to content themselves with reading accounts that failed to take up the details of the games.

This announcement will be hailed with delight by the "foreign" scribbles who will be in attendance at the game. No complete list has been given out yet concerning the number of typewriter publishers who will witness the giants of Dixie in action. Dr. Crenshaw stated yesterday that he had received applications for press tickets to fill several press boxes, and he expressed the belief that more than a core of southern newspaper men would report to Atlanta for duty Saturday morning.

Dr. Crenshaw did not say at what hour the gates would be thrown open Saturday, but it is generally believed that the sale of tickets to the sidelines would begin shortly after noon. Every available reserved seat in Grant field has been bought, and it was necessary to make a reserved section of the wooden bleachers utilized in past games for the Tech students. It is estimated that twenty thousand people will see the contest, and if space is available, this number will be much larger.

Ralph Stoutamire Visitor in Atlanta

Ralph Stoutamire, agricultural editor at the Florida Experiment station, at Gainesville, Fla., and a staunch supporter of his state university, was in Atlanta yesterday and brought tidings that the Mercer Baptists would get a distinct shock Friday night in Valdosta, when the Maconians take on the "Gators" for a football engagement.

Mr. Stoutamire asserts that Florida has one of the best teams in the history of the South. He says that Kline is one of the greatest gridiron players in the South. Coach Kline came on the scene at Valdosta, where he coached winning eleven. His record thus far, Mr. Stoutamire declares, is good enough to convince Floridians that he will eventually construct a championship contender in the South.

The "Gators" most recent triumph was a victory over Southern college, at Tampa, when they were rolled up against a team that greatly outwitted the university. Remains of the game on the Florida schedule are as follows: Friday, Mercer in Valdosta; November 1, Tulane in New Orleans; November 14, Georgia in Athens; November 20, Clemson in Columbia; November 27, Oglethorpe in Columbus. The team, we are informed by Mr. Stoutamire, is in rather bad shape just now, but he declared that some of the injured gridists would recover in time to take part in the action against the Baptists. The "Gators" biggest game, and the one they're playing for, seems to be with the Georgia Wildcats, and it is determined to make Coach Stegeman and DeHarte step a bit before conceding the Georgia machine to be superior.

Boys' High School To Battle Richmond

The Boys' High school will play its second home game of the season on Friday, and we can't believe that it will be a cinch for the local prep. This is the first time the opponents have been from the Richmond academy, Augusta, and if we are to judge by its past record, the "Columbia (S. C.) High school outfit, the eleven is capable of plenty of giving the Atlantans a hard battle.

Outwitted ten pounds per player, the Augustans tore into the Panthers, and plied up a 2 to 6 victory, bowling over the Carolinians in the most approved manner.

CHAMP AND GEORGES TO FIGHT IN CUBA

New York, October 27.—The fight between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier for the heavyweight championship of the world will be held in Havana, Cuba, it was announced here tonight.

Selection of Havana as the scene of the contest was made by Tex Rickard, Charles B. Cochran and William Brady, who stated they had received an offer of such proportions from a syndicate of Cuban capitalists that it was finally determined the championship battle would be staged in Havana.

Details of the match have been agreed upon and the actual signing of the articles of agreement merely await the arrival of a representative of the Cuban syndicate. He is expected to reach New York this week and upon his arrival definite announcement of the date of the contest will be made.

The three promoters made the announcement after a lengthy conference in New York. It was one of them who disclosed the identities of the Cuban capitalists who had successfully won the big battle.

Tex satisfied with the Havana arrangement, but I cannot disclose the identity of the representative of the Cuban syndicate. He will be here in a week or so, and everything will be announced upon his arrival. The syndicate has made a safe guarantee for success for us and eliminates a great deal of any chance of gambling on the proposition.

Earlier in the day, Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, stated that unless certain arrangements regarding a bonded stakeholder were included in the articles of agreement, he would not sign them. Tonight, however, Kearns came from the conference room smiling and declared that everything was satisfactory and that the arrangement had been made.

He also stated that the syndicate had agreed to pay for the fight, and that the arrangement had been made.

SECRECY RUMBLE AT GA. TECH

BY WALLACE GEORGE

Secret practice on Grant field is now in vogue. It has come to this, and the initial policy adopted by Coach Alexander regarding open practice workouts for the Tornado this year has necessarily been slightly deviated from. Conditions arising of late have made this move absolutely imperative, and for the remainder of the week, at least, there will be no open practice on the field.

The announcement was not made yesterday afternoon until the hour for the workout rolled around. The secret practice was found in the out of their classes, and the host of alumni and loyal supporters that always show up at the entrance to the stadium, were alike greeted by the players. They were "Closed Practices," meaning that the players' entrance, that they knew with great accuracy, was guarded by Esau Settle, of baseball fame, who likewise repeated the orders from Coach Alexander of "No Admittance."

This latest action caused quite a bit of curiosity among the fans, and seemed to forbid trouble in the air for the wondrous crew from Tech. Closed practices were common things during the last season, but the reason for the move of the Golden Tornado's destinies, and, in fact, open practices, after the manner of the Georgia Tech team, was not so much to eliminate a greater part of the chance of any scouting or spying on the team by outsiders, and was always taken as a matter of course.

From the time it was done again, may be taken as a matter of course, this time, as well as the last, the game but three days distant, there is no need in the world of allowing the press to spy on the team by outsiders, and was always taken as a matter of course.

The famous Tech shifts admit of a bit of trickery in the game, and it is a decided advantage when kept under cover until the last moment. The "Gators" biggest game, and the one they're playing for, seems to be with the Georgia Wildcats, and it is determined to make Coach Stegeman and DeHarte step a bit before conceding the Georgia machine to be superior.

The varsity and the reserves battled from 4 o'clock till darkness made play impossible. It was a severe scrimmage, and the newer players came in for a good share of the action. The game was a very close one, and the varsity was on the offense, and the reserves were on the defense.

WALTER CAMP Discusses Method In Watching Football Struggle

BY WALTER CAMP

Nine-tenths of the people who go to a baseball game understand the details and technique of the play. The majority of those who go to a football game see the simplicity and purpose of the contest, but few know the finer points of the game. The fairer well versed in the methods of football play are frequently surprised to observe the line play, which practice is now carried to produce the wonderful perfection seen in the execution of their plays.

The more really educated spectators have the better for the game. How to judge the real quality of a team and what its promise is in future contests is the aim of every spectator. The average man gets so interested in the play that he loses sight of the fact that the game is a game of strategy and not a game of brute force.

White Sox Deny Redmond Gave Warning of Crooks Chicago, October 27.—The Chicago American League club, in a statement issued tonight through its secretary, Harry Grabner, denied the charge that Harry Redmond or any other player had given the club positive evidence prior to the game of a baseball investigation that Chicago players had "thrown" games to Cincinnati in the 1919 world series.

The statement was in reply to reports that the club had been aware of the game-throwing and had taken action before the grand jury began its investigation, which resulted in true bills being voted against thirteen persons.

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes Springs Big Surprise in New Orleans, Defeating Memphis Favorite

New Orleans, La., October 27.—(Special.)—Mrs. Dozier Lowndes, of Atlanta, is tonight conceded a chance to win the women's southern golf championship as a result of her victory today over Mrs. K. S. Duffield, of Memphis, who was considered by the experts here to be unbeatable. Atlanta women figured greatly in the matches today, as they seemed to have mastered the Country club course.

Mrs. Duffield went out on the links a heavy favorite over Mrs. Lowndes, but the Atlanta woman was shooting a great game and at the end of the first nine holes she was one up on the Memphis player. Mrs. Lowndes has been nicknamed the "Babe Ruth" of the golf links.

Plays Golf Game. Coming back Mrs. Lowndes played a better game, while Mrs. Duffield fell down on her driving and the match ended in a four to two victory for Mrs. Lowndes. Mrs. Lowndes defeated Miss M. S. Bessley, Memphis, 1 up, 19 holes.

Are Nicely Balanced to Enable You to Eat What You Like Without Distress.

Indigestion is about the most universal complaint of mankind. And when the stomach is sour, gassy, bloated-like and you get that peculiar bilious taste in the mouth due to indigestion or dyspepsia there is nothing more relieving than one of two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many people are afraid of nearly all the good old savory dishes, the fried eggs, sausage, steak and onions and so on, as they usually experience the peculiar acidity which often follows such food. But Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were designed to supply the stomach with the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. For this reason many physicians recommend these tablets and you can get them in any drug store at 60 cents a box. (adv.)

Gowan's gets its penetrating qualities through the use of an animal fat base, which cannot be had with crude petroleum, and due to the fact that it does actually penetrate, it naturally reaches the seat of the trouble much quicker than salves that rely strictly upon inhalation for their results.

Gowan's gives relief beyond belief and is especially fine for babies and children as it produces rubefacient effect without irritating or blistering. It has many daily uses in the home and should be kept on hand for emergencies, such as cuts, burns, bruises, insect bites, etc. 50c and $1.20 at your druggist and guaranteed to please or money refunded.—(adv.)

The district attorney said late Wednesday that more testimony will probably be presented to the jury today, but that no indictments were expected for at least two weeks. All of the instances alleged of profiteering in coal will be thoroughly sifted, so that no injustice will be done.

Assisting Mr. Alexander in the presentation of evidence for the government was Colonel A. J. Wisner, special agent of the department of justice, bureau of investigation. It is understood that indictments are being urged against three local dealers.

Mr. Otis formerly was president of the Columbia Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Charities. He took a deep interest in civic affairs and in his death the South Carolina city has lost one of its best citizens.

KIRKWOOD TO BUILD ITS OWN GAS PLANT

Because of the refusal on the part of the Atlanta Gas Light company to extend its service to Kirkwood, the town council, at a regular meeting Tuesday night, announced its intention of encouraging a private enterprise to build a plant.

Prominent citizens, headed by Paul J. Talbot, L. J. Cassels and R. Bachman, on the promise of a lengthy franchise from the town, have promised to make arrangements to finance the erection of a plant to serve Kirkwood and vicinity.

It is understood that the bulk of the money necessary will be furnished by the citizens and possible users.

Kirkwood is the only township immediately adjacent to Atlanta that is without gas, so determined not to be alone, they will undertake the erection themselves, with the assistance and co-operation of council.

Application for a charter will be made immediately, the city attorney, E. Wilson, having been retained to make application.

Sibley, and announced they will engage counsel and fight the indictment.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge here next year a home for aged Masons and widows of Masons will probably be authorized, action on the question having been deferred at the present session.

WOMAN USES TEETH ON MACON SLEUTH; IS TURNED LOOSE

Macon, Ga., October 27.—(Special.) If you are a woman and a city detective attempt to place you under arrest, you can bite him all you want to and you are not guilty of assault and battery according to a ruling of Judge Holmes Johnson, of Jones county, presiding in the city court here today.

Mary Jones, a white woman, has just been acquitted of that charge in the city court, following an attack she made on City Detective C. L. Morris recently in local restaurant, when the detective attempted to place her under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. The woman is alleged to have used her teeth with telling effect on the officer, injuring him so badly that he was unable to work for several days.

After hearing the evidence in the case, Judge Johnson decided a verdict of guilty would not stand under the law, and instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. The woman was ordered to leave the city, and is understood to have done so.

NEGRO EDUCATOR GIVES GOOD ADVICE TO NEGROES AT FAIR

Monroe, Ga., October 27.—(Special.)—Speaking to a large crowd of colored visitors at the Walton County fair last Saturday, Rev. B. J. Bridges, president of the Atlanta Commercial and Industrial Institute, advised his hearers to pay more attention to the opportunities presented to them in the south than to the white people with whom they would have to associate to the extent they made themselves useful to the white people with whom they would have to associate to that extent would they really contribute to the general welfare and happiness of their race.

Considerable stress was laid by Rev. Bridges on the financial and educational advancement made by the colored people during the past fifty years. Thousands of rooms have been opened, banks established, schools founded, millions of dollars have been invested and in practically every line of endeavor or great strides forward have been made.

Throughout his address Rev. Bridges stressed the thought of honesty and thrift and his remarks were well received by his hearers.

THE CONSTITUTION'S FINANCIAL NEWS AND REVIEWS

Uncertainty in Stocks
Attributed to Politics

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, October 27.—Losses of from 1 to 2 points or more occurred in the stock market today. Aside from the earnings of the United States Steel corporation, which made an unfavorable impression, Wall street republicans—and most everybody in the financial district belongs to that party—began to show signs of uncertainty over the approaching election. The odds are still in favor of Harding, but Wall street has not forgotten that four years ago the odds up to the day before the election were in favor of Hughes.

Another disturbing factor in the stock market was the news that the government was going to withdraw tomorrow $16,000,000 in funds from the banks here. Yesterday $28,000,000 was withdrawn; last week's withdrawals amounted to $50,000,000. Today the government has on deposit here with the banks only $64,000,000, against $175,000,000 a month ago, and $279,000,000 a year ago. To raise the money withdrawn by the government the banks have been forced to call loans right and left, and such action invariably upsets the stock market.

Government Withdrawals.

Adverse criticism was again heard today throughout the street of the action of the government in withdrawing such large sums from the banks here. In some quarters it was charged that officials at Washington were playing politics. That is, were doing what they could to prevent a pre-election rise in the stock market which would reflect the belief that Harding would be the winner. In other circles the charge was made that in withdrawing needed funds Washington treasury officials were discriminating against the Wall street banks in favor of the banks in the south, west and elsewhere.

In reliable banking quarters such talk was not given serious consideration. The whole matter, it was declared, simply means that the government has obligations to meet, and is raising the money from banks that have been the heaviest purchasers of the treasury certificates.

Call money opened today at 9 per cent, the same as yesterday, and again went to 10.

United States Steel.

United States Steel common was a great disappointment to the rank and file of traders. Closing last night at 89 1/2, the opening price this morning was 88 1/2, with 88 1/4 touched during the first half hour. Some attributed this to the failure of the directors of the company held after the close of business yesterday to declare an extra dividend. The general consensus of opinion in conservative banking quarters, however, on that point is that an extra dividend at this time would have been bearish stock marketwise. In such quarters today's early decline in Steel common was attributed to disappointment over yesterday's earnings statement. It is true that net for the quarter amounting to $48,000,000 was $5,000,000 larger than for the June quarter of this year, and a gain of $8,000,000 over the September quarter of 1919.

But Wall street had been led to believe by the recent statement of earnings of the Republic and the Lackawanna that the showing by the Steel corporation would be much more favorable. Figure on a percentage basis, Republic showed an increase in its September earnings compared with those for the June quarter of this year of 41.7 per cent, while Lackawanna's increase was 59.5 per cent. For the Steel corporation the gain was only 11.4 per cent.

Independent Steels.

For the long pull Wall street bankers are not as bearish on Steel common as on the shares of the independent steel manufacturers, in the readjustment of steel selling prices now under way. Wall street bankers pointed out today. The independents, with their relatively higher prices, will have further to drop in reaching the ground. Then, it was added, the Steel corporation is likely to have fewer cancellations during the readjustment period, and it also is likely to make gains, because during the runaway market early this year, it has given the independents their relatively large earnings. The Steel corporation steadily refused to advance its selling prices.

For the first quarter of this year the Steel corporation earned $3.88 a share for its common stock; for the second quarter, $3.96; for the third quarter $4.76. That makes $12.60 so far for the year.

A tremendous amount of foreign financing is changing over the investment market. At the present time negotiations are under way for loans to Sweden, Stockholm, Swiss cities, Cuba and Brazil, Norway, Denmark and Switzerland have already gotten accommodation here. The form of aid to be given to the Cuban sugar planters is still undetermined, but it seems to be settled that any loan in that quarter will have to be guaranteed by the Cuban government. Brazil will probably get $40,000,000 in the shape of 90-day acceptances, which will be funded into a bond issue at maturity.

Railroad Earnings.

The first statement of railroad earnings for the month of September covered the first month of the rate increase and was made public today. The report was that of the Kansas City Southern. It showed gross income of $2,378,000, an increase of $890,000, a net income of $744,000, an increase of $334,000, or more than 100 per cent. The net income of $744,000 in September compares with a deficit of $283,000 in August and with net income of $1,540 in July. This statement gives a fair idea of what effect the rate increase has had upon the most income account. But favorable as the above statement is, it is believed that the October reports will be even more favorable.

Today's Iron Age reports more price-cutting in the steel and iron trade. Wall street was greatly interested in today's dispatches from St. Louis, reporting four of the large dry goods wholesalers there, Ely & Walker, Carleton Dry Goods company, Rice-Sutcliffe Dry Goods company, and Butler Bros., have started a week's campaign of price-cutting. Millions of dollars' worth of merchandise, it was stated, were being offered with buyers in line. One house, it was stated, had adopted the slogan, "Taking our medicine." It was explained that the movement was to get business back to normal.
